REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

To the Officers and Members of Siloam Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F.:

Brothers, — Your committee, appointed under vote passed March 20, 1884, as follows: —

"To examine the record books of this Lodge since reinstatement in 1842; to see if they are in possession of the Lodge and properly cared for; to make such a collection and arrangement of the receipts and disbursements of the Lodge so that the Treasurer's books will show at the end of each term the total amount expended under the different accounts; and to report such facts as, in their judgment, may be of interest to the Lodge," submit the following report: —

When your committee commenced this work we thought the principal labor would be that covering the financial part; that, having collected those items under their different heads into tables, our work would be nearly completed.

As we proceeded we found the work more complicated than we expected. What we had hoped to be able to do in a few months could not be done properly without great labor and care continued over a much longer period. Bro. H. Earl presented the committee a printed report, submitted to this Lodge in 1862, covering about the same ground. Upon comparing our work already done with this report, variations appeared. With this report as a guide, we went over our work again, finding this report had been taken from reports made to the Grand Lodge, and had not been verified by the books in detail.

We procured the reports from the Grand Lodge office (through the courtesy of Bro. C. D. Cole, G. S.) relating to our membership during the first twenty years after reinstatement, and were surprised to find no attempt had been made to verify them. In one term thirteen members disappear without notice, the total of these errors amounting to over one hundred.

We found we had no correct list of all who had joined the Lodge, and that the correct number could not be ascertained from any one of the Lodge books. The committee thought a correct list could be made from the record books, could they be carefully examined. Not being able to give the time necessary to do this, we asked the assistance of Bro. E. P. Dolbeare to aid us. He kindly consented, taking all the record books and examining every meeting of the Lodge during the forty-four years, taking the name and date of every man coming in or going out of the Lodge. Bro. Dolbeare's work was done very carefully and correctly, but the result was not as encouraging as we expected. There had been so many omissions from the records, a complete list could not be made from those alone; our being able to get a correct list at this time seemed doubtful.

From Bro. Dolbeare's list we then wrote each man's name and all relating to him (found on the records) on separate slips of paper, separating those whose records were complete from the rest (many were left uncompleted), taking these separately and comparing them with the signature-book, roll-book, and Permanent Secretary's books. After long and tedious examination of these, we were finally successful in completing the history of each slip. In several instances we were not able to fix the date exactly, but very closely, and believe we present the Lodge a correct list of all who have come into the Lodge or gone out of it since reinstatement, leaving our present membership as reported Jan. 1, 1889.

We found the record books complete, consisting of eleven volumes, including the one in the hands of the Recording Secretary: Vol. 1, commencing May 19, 1842, ending Aug. 29, 1844; Vol. 2, from Sept. 5, 1844, ending Dec. 3, 1846; Vol. 3, from Dec. 10, 1846, ending Dec. 25, 1851; Vol. 4, from Jan. 1, 1852, ending Dec. 31, 1857; Vol. 5, from Jan. 6, 1858, ending Sept. 3, 1863; Vol. 6, from Sept. 10, 1863, ending Nov. 5, 1868; Vol. 7, from Nov. 12, 1868, ending July 4, 1872; Vol. 8, from July 11, 1872, ending Feb. 25, 1875; Vol. 9, from March 4, 1875, ending March 4, 1880; Vol. 10, from March 11, 1880, ending June 19, 1884; Vol. 11, from June 26, 1884, ending ——

One cash book and ledger contain all the receipts and expenditures from reinstatement to Jan. 1, 1876. The cash book and ledger now in the hands of the present Treasurer complete the forty-seven years' financial record to date.

We found the two old original record books covering the period from 1823 to 1829, or suspension; also, the financial books for that period.

The record books have been carefully indexed up to within a few years. Many valuable papers and documents have been carefully preserved and filed away; we do not find the regular communications and papers ordered by the Lodge placed on file for several years among them. The committee think there are important papers under this head worth preserving for future reference.

The attention of the Lodge is called to the danger from fire to which our records are liable. Our safe is very small; only a small part of the books can be stored in that. The iron trunk in which the remainder are kept would be worthless in case of fire. We recommend that some more suitable protection be provided for their safety.

We append the following tables: —

A. — Showing receipts from all sources to the various accounts, the yearly totals, and totals to date since reinstatement.

B. — Disbursements from the various accounts, yearly totals, and totals to date.

C — Showing receipts and expenditures, gain or loss, and total of each fund and the several funds yearly, to date.

D. — Showing the work, in figures, each six months; List No. 1 giving the names corresponding to these figures.

List No. 1. — Complete names comprising the work of the Lodge each six months, under the different heads.

List No. 2. — Contains the names, alphabetically, and the history of each member coming into the Lodge since reinstatement.

List No. 3. — Contains the names of the officers elected and installed each term since reinstatement.

Three thousand one hundred and seventeen dollars and thirty-nine cents have been received in special donations by the Committee on Widows, and used by them to assist widows in need. This is one of our most helpful charities, and is doing untold good in relieving sick and aged widows of this Lodge almost unknown to the members. This amount does not appear in the tables.

This Lodge paid a continuous sick benefit of $5 per week up to the latter part of the year 1877. Our sick list was very large. The Lodge found itself not only paying out all the receipts, but drawing heavily on the funds. To correct this serious condition, the By-Laws were amended, giving brothers thirteen weeks' sick benefits only in any one term. This By-Law was again amended in 1881, when our present By-Law was adopted. One case in particular represents this great drain on the Lodge's resources: a brother being permanently disabled June 19, 1869, drew sick benefits nearly twenty years, receiving in that time the large sum of $3,254.56.

Thirty-three funeral benefits of $15 each have been paid on the death of brothers' wives. No benefit of this kind has been paid since 1853.

Out of 257 deaths, 220 funeral benefits have been paid. Thirty-seven brothers not being in good standing at the time of death (being in arrears) were not entitled to it; seventeen of these came during the period $30 was paid, and twenty since $75 was made the funeral benefit.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

Report was submitted to the Lodge, May 17, 1888, accepted, and the committee instructed to have five hundred copies printed, with such additions as they thought proper, for the use of the Lodge.

The committee have added a list of officers from reinstatement to date, examined the old records from 1823 to 1830, finding the number coming in as nearly as possible, also the receipts for that period, re-examined our previous work in figures and dates, added the work of the year 1888 to the report, and gathered a few facts relating to Odd Fellowship in Massachusetts from reports published by Massachusetts Lodge, No. 1, in 1845, James L. Ridgely's "History of American Odd Fellowship," and other sources, which we present in a condensed form, believing they may be of interest to the members.

The founder of Odd Fellowship in Massachusetts, James B. Barnes, emigrated to this country in 1817 and located in Boston. He had passed the chairs in England, and upon his arrival here made diligent inquiries to ascertain if there were any Odd Fellows in Boston. Not being able to find any, he adopted the plan of watching the passenger ships from Europe, in order to collect a sufficient number of the Order to establish a Lodge in the city of Boston. This he succeeded in accomplishing, as he says, in 1819, in which year they frequently met together.

But the first record of a Lodge being formed was obtained from Past Grand Guild, that on the 26th of March, 1820, the following brothers, namely, James B. Barnes, H. D. Fregere, Jacob Myers, and Thomas Kennedy, met at the house of James B. Eaton, in Federal Street, and, after consulting together relative to establishing the Order in the city, decided it was expedient to form a Lodge, under the name of Massachusetts Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., and made choice of the following officers: James B. Barnes, N. G.; H. D. Fregere, V. G.; Joseph Myers, Warden; Thomas Kennedy, Secretary. No record was found of a Treasurer until the expiration of three terms.

When Massachusetts Lodge was instituted it was believed by its founders that they had established the first Odd Fellows' Lodge in America, they having no knowledge of the formation of Washington Lodge, in the city of Baltimore, until the early part of the year 1822. Massachusetts Lodge continued to hold its meetings weekly, and rapidly increased in numbers, moving several times their place of meeting. In 1823 they moved into Masonic Hall, near the head of Ann Street. Here it was that P. G. Master Daniel Hersey (the first American-born citizen) was initiated into Massachusetts Lodge.

Soon after locating in Ann Street, the following brothers withdrew from Massachusetts Lodge for the purpose of forming a new Lodge, namely: Daniel Hersey, James B. Barnes, Charles Montfort, Edmund Badger, Samuel R. Knapp, John Minot, James Frost, Abel Wheelock, Henry Fowle, John C. Bradley, William C. Jenkins, and Joseph Campbell, and on the sixth day of March, 1823, instituted Siloam Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., and elected the following officers, who were duly installed March 11, by Massachusetts Lodge: Daniel Hersey, N. G.; James B. Barnes, V. G.; Edmund Badger, Secretary; Thomas Montfort, Treasurer. Siloam Lodge occupied the same hall, by invitation of Massachusetts Lodge, free of rent, till July 1.

At the first meeting of Siloam Lodge thirteen votes were recorded cast for each officer elected, showing one or more brothers, probably two, united with the above-named twelve from Massachusetts Lodge.

Siloam Lodge started on her mission with good material among her charter members, and increased in numbers rapidly for several years. During the year 1823, 32 candidates were initiated; in 1824, 40; in 1825, 44; in 1826, 20; in 1827, 19; in 1828, 3; none in 1829, the year in which they suspended. By these figures, including charter members, it will be seen that 172 members had come into Siloam Lodge; the receipts for the same period amounting to $1,340.21.

On June 11, 1823, the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts was instituted, and the following officers chosen and installed by Thomas Wildey, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland: Daniel Hersey, M. W. G. M.; H. Soloman, R. W. D. G. M.; William Bishop, R. W. G. S.

Seven Subordinate Lodges were in successful operation during the first decade in Massachusetts, namely, Massachusetts Lodge, No 1, Siloam Lodge, No. 2, at Boston; Good Samaritan Lodge, No. 3, at Taunton; New England Lodge, No. 4, at Cambridge; Washington Lodge, No. 5, at Roxbury; Adam Lodge, No. 6, at Boston; Merrimac Lodge, No. 7, at Lowell.

June 9, 1828, Massachusetts Lodge voted to give up the hall to Siloam Lodge, but not to give up their charter to the Grand Lodge so long as there were five members to stand by the wreck. Aug. 10, 1828, Massachusetts Lodge held a special meeting for the purpose of attending the funeral of Bro. Mayher. The Lodge was closed in due form, and continued closed for a period of nearly thirteen years. Siloam Lodge continued to hold its meetings till Oct. 20, 1829, over one year after Massachusetts Lodge had suspended.

After Massachusetts Lodge had suspended its operations, several brothers, formerly members of Massachusetts and Siloam Lodges, petitioned the Grand Lodge for a charter to form a new Lodge, to be called Adam Lodge. A charter was granted, and on the 31st of December, 1828, the Lodge was instituted. This Lodge held its meetings in the old hall in Ann Street till about the first of September, 1830, using the furniture and regalia of Massachusetts Lodge. They then moved to a small hall, holding meetings there till August, 1831, when it was agreed to give up the hall and move the regalia, etc., to Bro. Eben Smith's house, on Hanover Street, where they held their meetings till March 21, 1832.

From March, 1832, to October, 1839, no trace of the Order could be found in Massachusetts. About the year 1830, Thomas Wildey, P. G. M., says: "There is a complete history from its commencement up to 1830, when the Robinsons came into power, and nothing but discord and strife existed among the members. Jealousy was the word. Barnes would not meet with them. The members of Good Samaritan Lodge, at Taunton, would not send their percentage. The Past Grands at Taunton wanted the Grand Lodge located there. This state was continued for some length of time among the members in Massachusetts, until they gave up meeting."

"On March 30, 1833, the Legislature of Massachusetts passed a law aimed at the existence of secret societies, making it a penal offence extra-judicially to administer or take an oath, affirmation, or obligation in the nature of an oath. This was a mortal blow. The body, already weak, fell before it, and the Light that now glows so steadily and brightly was extinguished."

In 1839, Thomas Barr succeeded in collecting together old members, who were, by authority of the R. W. Grand Lodge of the United States, reinstated as Merrimac Lodge, No. 7, in Lowell. The Lodge held its meetings once a fortnight, but added few to its membership. Its existence was wholly unknown to the brethren in Boston until up to the time of the visit of Past Grand Master Wildey in June, 1841.

During the month of April, 1841, Bros. Guild and Andrews considered the subject of reinstating the Order in Massachusetts. They drew up a petition to have Massachusetts Lodge reinstated, getting the required number with difficulty, and called a meeting for June 11. Fortunately for them and the Order, on the day of the meeting P. G. M. Wildey, of Baltimore, arrived in the city. He came as the agent of the Grand Lodge of the United States, for the purpose of reviving the Order in Massachusetts. His visit was entirely unexpected to the petitioners, and he possessed no knowledge of the efforts that had been made to effect the object he himself had in view. He met with the petitioners, assisted in making the necessary arrangements for reinstatement. Upon his return from his visit to Lowell, he reinstated the petitioners as Massachusetts Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., and authorized P. G. Master Hersey to install the officers. They were elected and installed June 22, 1841.

Siloam Lodge awakened from her sleep of twelve years and seven months in May, 1842. A petition, signed by William Ingalls, Nahum Brigham, Joseph King, Solon Jenkins, Joshua Davis, Daniel Lundgreen, and R. Sherwin, was presented to the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, asking to have Siloam Lodge, No. 2, reinstated. Granted May 16, 1842. Five of the petitioners met at Armory Hall, corner of Washington and West Streets, at 8 o'clock P. M., May 19, 1842 (King and Sherwin, of the petitioners, absent). Bro. Davis, of Suffolk Lodge, was called to the chair; and Bro. J. H. Brown, of Massachusetts Lodge, chosen Secretary. The election took place. Bro. Solon Jenkins was elected N. G.; William Ingalls, V. G.; Joshua Davis, Secretary; Nahum Brigham, Treasurer. They were conducted to their respective chairs by Bro. Andrews, of the Grand Lodge. The By-Laws of Massachusetts Lodge were adopted for the present. On the evening of May 26, 1842, the officers elect were duly installed into office by the officers of the Grand Lodge.

June 14, 1843, Covenant Hall was destroyed by fire. On the next evening the Lodge met at Encampment Hall, near the corner of Washington and West Streets, by invitation of Massachusetts Lodge. Siloam Lodge continued to hold its sessions there till Sept. 14, 1843, when, Covenant Hall having been rebuilt, the Lodge returned to its former quarters. The Lodge again removed to Encampment Hall, Oct. 5, 1848, and remained there till Sept. 29, 1853, when the Lodge removed to Ellison Hall, School Street, while Odd Fellows' Hall was being prepared. The Lodge met in Odd Fellows' Hall, corner of Essex and Rowe Streets, on Thursday evening, Oct. 27, 1853. On the same evening the hall was dedicated to the uses of Odd Fellowship by our Most Worthy Grand Master, Wm. A. Bell. Siloam Lodge continued to hold its meetings in this hall about ten years.

In 1861 the idea of centralizing the Lodges began to be discussed, taking practical form by Massachusetts Lodge first appointing a committee for that purpose, and inviting other Lodges to appoint similar committees to meet with theirs. Siloam Lodge appointed on that committee Bros. Swift, Bursley, and White. Oct. 24, 1861, resolutions were received from the committee deeming it expedient to build, and concentrate the Lodges, Encampments, and Grand Lodge offices in one building. At the next meeting, Siloam Lodge voted unanimously to adopt the resolutions.

April 24, 1862, the Lodge received a communication from Bro. A. Lawrence, offering to lease the two upper stories of the new building being erected by him on Washington Street for $2,000 a year and proportion of taxes. May 15, 1862, the Lodge voted to give the committee full power to lease this property for ten years, at a rental of $1,200 a year and taxes. These new halls were dedicated June 17, 1862, Siloam Lodge holding its first meeting there July 2, 1862. Many of the members remember this hall with pleasure, and the prosperity attending the Order during that period.

The Order grew rapidly, and before the ten years' lease had expired the Order had outgrown these quarters, and the subject again presented itself of building new and more spacious accommodations to meet the present wants and future growth in Boston, resulting in the erection of Odd Fellows' Hall, corner of Tremont and Berkeley Streets. Siloam Lodge first met in this building (Covenant Hall) Feb. 6, 1873, and has continued to hold its meetings there up to the present time.

As we have seen, the history of Siloam Lodge carries us back to within three years of the founding of Odd Fellowship in Massachusetts. James L. Ridgely says: "The leading spirits in the first movement became the original members of Siloam Lodge, No. 2. It followed that its meetings were more regular and its membership more active and efficient than those of the parent Lodge."

We have followed it in its growth and decline during the first decade, starting again, May 19, 1842, with seven charter members, a nucleus of what was soon to become one of the strongest Lodges in its membership and influence throughout the State. At the close of the year 1842 our membership numbered 113. Then came the year of our greatest prosperity, 1843. During that year 351 candidates were admitted. In less than two years from reinstatement Siloam Lodge numbered 425 members; at the end of three years, over 500 members. In 1849 a reaction set in. In one term 105 members were suspended for non-payment of dues. From that time up to 1863 our membership averaged about 300. When the tide again turned in our favor our membership gradually increased up to the year 1875. Twice during that year our membership rose above 600, and from that point decreased slowly to the present time, our average membership for the past twenty-two years being a little over 500 members; probably a larger average during that period than any other Lodge in the State.

Her history has been marked, and brilliantly interwoven with the great work carried forward by the Order. Her influence on Odd Fellowship in the State, and extending to the Grand Lodge of the United States, has been made possible only through the devoted services of so many noted names among her long roll of members. She has been honored by the Grand Lodge of the State by the election of eight Grand Masters from her membership, who presided over that distinguished body eighteen years (more than one quarter of the whole period of American Odd Fellowship). Daniel Hersey served as Grand Master from 1823 to 1832, also from 1841 to 1843, — eleven years in all; Rev. Thomas F. Norris, during the year 1844; Rev. E. M. P. Wells, in 1846; John R. Mullen, in 1854; Enos H. Tucker, in 1862; William E. Ford, in 1864; Thomas C. Porter, in 1869; Fred C. Davis, during 1873. Rev. E. M. P. Wells also served as R. W. Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of the United States during the years 1849 and 1850.

All of the above Grand Masters were also Grand Representatives to the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

The second decade in Odd Fellowship proved a triumphal march for the Order. Those few brothers petitioning to have the suspended Lodges reinstated, little thought that in less than fifty years there would be 192 Subordinate Lodges in good working order, with 37,410 members, in the State, besides 74 Lodges of the Degree of Rebekah, paying annually $130,000 for relief.
